

Terms of use

Accuracy, reliability and legality of submitted data

Users (individuals, organisations and specialised agencies) are responsible for their submitted information. They do not disseminate any untrue, offensive or illegal content via benevol-jobs.ch.

Scope of application

benevol-jobs.ch is the volunteer placement platform for volunteer work in Switzerland. That is why the following applies to organisations that advertise:

- The provider organisation is domiciled in Switzerland
- Assignments to be exercised take place in Switzerland
- Provider organisation does not advertise "voluntourism" assignments abroad ("volunteer assignments" paid by performers).

Benevol standards

By booking their advertisements, the advertising organisations confirm that they comply with the benevol standards. If benevol Switzerland, a benevol specialist office or the benevol-jobs.ch coordination office notices that the benevol standards are not substantially complied with, it can unilaterally deactivate advertisements until the standards are complied with (even in the case of fee-based booking).

Data protection

See data protection declaration.

Blocking, termination of the user account

If there are concrete indications that the user grossly violates legal regulations, the rights of third parties or the terms of use, benevol Switzerland may take the following measures at its own discretion - taking into account the legitimate interests of the respective customer:

1. Delete requests to potential applicants or other content,
2. restrict or limit the use of the applicant database,
3. warn customers,
4. temporarily block the user account

Facts that are suitable to justify a termination of the user relationship without notice also justify a permanent blocking of the user account. Facts that justify termination without notice are present in particular if

The customer has provided false information during registration, there is a recognisable misuse of the applicant database, the functionality of the applicant database is damaged or impaired by the customer, or there are violations of other legal regulations, rights of third parties or GTC of benevol-jobs.ch.

Partial refunds of the fee already incurred as a result of premature cancellation before the end of the booked period are excluded.

Disclaimer

The operators provide the information without warranty.

Benevol Switzerland assumes no liability, neither for the accuracy, reliability and legality of the information, nor for the complete data security or for the uninterrupted and error-free functioning of the platform.

Supplementary law and place of jurisdiction

Swiss law shall apply. The place of jurisdiction is Schaffhausen.

June 2021 © Benevol Switzerland